

CUSTOMER SUCCESS STORY

Lehigh Press (Puerto Rico) stops errors with Global Vision's complete electronic proofreading & inspection solution.

Lehigh Press Puerto Rico was founded in 1986 to supply patient instruction inserts to the pharmaceutical industry in Puerto Rico. Since then, it has expanded its capabilities to become a label and insert printer specializing in providing labeling products to the pharmaceutical, food and beverage industries in the United States, Dominican Republic, and Latin America. Today, Lehigh Press maintains a staff of over 150 employees in its Juncos, Puerto Rico facility.

Lehigh Press selected a Global Vision artwork inspector to inspect its customers' files and press sheets. Combined with the Digital-Page™ image comparator, it enables the company to perform fast, accurate proofreading by comparing samples to master images in any combination of hard copies or electronic images. The system can detect and accurately identify missing text and graphics, incorrect fonts, text size and bar codes, as well as broken type and color deviations.

In addition, by adding Global Vision's Archive Manager to the system, Lehigh Press was able to store and retrieve inspection reports related to the tested samples. The Archive Manager operates with an MS Access database. This gives Lehigh Press the ability to include replaying of inspection results for management and/or FDA audits.

Focusing upon the importance of the inspection process, David Iriarte, the company's vice president of quality assurance, noted that "The task of producing and inspecting labels is highly meticulous." Iriarte stated, "Because we are dealing with labels and leaflets for the pharmaceutical industry, we are compelled to maintain comprehensive inspection processes." He also added, "By using the X-Press Robotic and Digital-Page™ inspection systems, we are 100% assured that any errors on the labels are detected. Our labels have to be perfect. The Global Vision systems provide us with the peace of mind that no error will be overlooked."

Lehigh Press is a true, innovative leader in their industry. By integrating the proven technology offered by Global Vision, they are better positioned to sustain their role of delivering state-of-the-art unique products and services to their customers.
